CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS:

Rutgers Business School—summers 2015 thru 2021

As a Participant in summer Business Camp, I conducted a seminar for high school students to possibly interest them in a career in accounting.

One semester I conducted a similar seminar to a group of foreign students that may be interested in attending Rutgers Business School.

J.H. Cohn LLP---2002 thru 2012

As the lead Quality Control Partner of the Financial Services Niche, I made presentations to the niche (at least annually) on new developments related predominately to broker dealers and investment partnerships. These topics included fair value measurements and disclosures, auditing fair values (predominately related to level III of the fair value hierarchy), disclosures relative to derivatives, disclosures relative to private equity funds, and audit evidence.

In 2002, I was also the head of a task force for the Firm’s implementation of Statement on Auditing Standards No. 99: “Consideration of Fraud in a Financial Statement Audit.” I had to then present the Firm’s standards to the rest of the Firm in a three hour seminar.

SERVICE TO RUTGERS BUSINESS SCHOOL:

RBS 24/7:

The Business School is making learning available throughout the day. I serve on the committee as a representative from the AIS department since I am in charge of the Teaching Assistants for Financial Accounting.

Beta Gamma Sigma Mentorship Program:

Volunteered to be a Faculty Mentor beginning Fall 2019 – I am paired with an Accounting Major to serve as a mentor for college and career advice.

SERVICE TO THE DEPARTMENT:

Rutgers Business School – 2015 to present:

I was appointed to be in charge of the undergraduate teaching assistants for Financial Accounting. I select undergraduate teaching assistants to tutor students with Financial Accounting. Some teaching assistants also lead group sessions. I prepare the schedule for tutoring and group sessions, select the discussion problems for the group sessions, and monitor the program throughout the semester.

I was appointed Faculty Advisor for a case competition sponsored by Deloitte (6 Competitions):

Comments from judges on the students' soft skills were excellent.

The 2017 team won the Regional Competition and went to National Finals.

The 2018 team won the Regional Competition and placed second in the National Finals.

The 2019 team won the Regional Competition and was scheduled to present at the National Finals in April 2020 (cancelled due to pandemic)

Beginning Fall 2019, I was asked to serve on a Committee whose objective is to improve our accounting students' performance on the CPA exam.

Beginning in 2020, I am the Faculty coordinator for the Intro to Financial Accounting and Concepts of Auditing classes

I serve as Advisor for a Capstone Project (2016-2017, 2017-2018, 2018-2019 Academic Years)

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES ATTENDED:

Topics include Personal Development, Accounting, Tax, Ethics, Advisory Services

March 2020 thru August 2020:

Various Training Courses related to Online Teaching

PwC Accounting and Tax Symposium 2018

Washington, DC

August 3, 2018

KPMG 2016 Faculty Symposium

Chicago, Illinois

June 22, 2016

KPMG's 2015 National Faculty Symposium

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

PUBLICATIONS:

J.H. Cohn LLP newsletter:

On or about January 2008: I Co-authored an article with a Partner at J.H. Cohn LLP regarding FAS (Financial Accounting Standards) 157 – Fair Value Measurements. The article dealt with the fair value hierarchy and related disclosures. The target audience was the financial services industry (particularly hedge funds and private equity funds).
