

RITA FAUCETT is Bristol-Myers Squibb U.S. cardiovascular sales lead. She has been employed by Bristol-Myers Squibb for 29 years and has held a variety of senior positions including vice president CV/metabolic sales for the West Area and senior director, learning and development where she had global responsibility for the development and delivery of functional and leadership competencies. Prior to the learning and development role, Faucett was a senior director on the marketing team and before that held a variety of positions supporting the sales organization including senior director, planning and administration. Before joining Bristol-Myers Squibb, Faucett worked for Exxon Company where she held a range of sales and marketing roles. Faucett graduated from Clemson University with a B.S. in chemical engineering. She also earned an M.B.A. from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and an M.S. in human resource leadership from Rutgers University. @bmsnews