2013 Capacity Building Conference

August 7, 8 and 9, 2013

Discounted rates for attendees for all three days
8:00 AM – 6:00 PM
New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT), Newark, NJ

Since 2007, The Prudential Foundation and Victoria Foundation have hosted the Annual Nonprofit Capacity Building Conference (CBC) to specifically address the needs of their grantees. With a unique opportunity, the 2013 CBC will be held jointly with the Alliance for Nonprofit Management (Alliance) at the NJIT facilities in Newark, NJ. The Prudential Foundation and Victoria Foundation welcome US Trust and the New Jersey Health Initiatives as a 2013 Conference Sponsor and seek participation and sponsorship from other local, regional, and national funders to this event. Leveraging local as well as national experts, leaders and organizations, this event will be a critical collaboration and opportunity for all attendees. Register here by July 1, 2013.

Who Should Attend? Which Day(s) are for me?
The CBC planning committee is pleased to welcome this opportune partnership to expand and elevate the expertise and innovation here in NJ as well as benefit from nonprofit professionals around the U.S. Nonprofit CEOs, board members and emerging leaders as well as capacity builders, academics, and funders are welcome to this three-day event.

Nonprofit Capacity Building Conference: August 7, 2013
This day is focused on the nonprofit organization – from the leadership (staff and board) perspective. What are the skills I need to effectively run my organization? How can I help support leadership development of our staff? Where are the financial pitfalls that other comparable nonprofits fell into and where can I get guidance to be strategic? How can we (re)build the board/CEO relationship? What does governance mean and how is it put in practice in our organization? We can't seem to find the fundraising silver bullet; now what?
Alliance for Nonprofit Management Conference: August 8-9, 2013

These days are focused on lessons learned, new practices and sharing information from nonprofit experts around the country to help improve the effectiveness of individuals, groups, and organizations. These discussions are based on experiences as well as data collected on various initiatives to help nonprofits and communities across the U.S. learn from each other, yet apply lessons and data with a tailored, local approach.

About the CBC

The CBC brings together national leaders, local experts and committed nonprofit executive directors, emerging leaders and board members for an engaging, interactive day focused on increasing efficacy and mission-strengthening skill-building. Content is driven by local Management Service Organizations: Rutgers Institute for Ethical Leadership, Partnership in Philanthropy, Pro Bono Partnership, Center for Non-Profits, Nonprofit Finance Fund and the Support Center for Nonprofit Management/Partnership in Philanthropy, all of whom make up the annual CBC planning committee.

About the Alliance

The Alliance for Nonprofit Management is the national association of nonprofit experts seeking to improve the effectiveness of individuals, groups, and organizations to help nonprofits and communities achieve positive social change. Held in a new U.S. city annually, the Alliance Conference brings together capacity builders, academics, and funders from across the country to explore the latest sector research and research-based capacity building practices in an array of content areas including leadership, governance, evaluation, and sustainability. Rutgers School of Social Work – Center for Nonprofit Management and Governance will also be a partner to this year’s event. MBA and MPA student fellows will be contributing as well.

Registration Required by July 1: http://www.eventbrite.com/event/5662259972
Aug 7: $50 (per individual)
Aug 8 -9: starting at $100 – For more information, visit www.theallianceconference.org/

For questions, contact: Margaret Della, Rutgers Institute for Ethical Leadership mdella@business.rutgers.edu or (973) 353-3507