Advanced Certification in Procurement

The Advanced Certification in Procurement (ACP) represents an important addition to the Rutgers Business School undergraduate degree in Supply Chain Management and Marketing Sciences. Intended for students planning a career in supply chain management, this certificate will demonstrate mastery of key procurement topics and skills needed in today’s global business environment.

Certification

The ACP will be issued by the Rutgers Center for Supply Chain Management through its Advanced Global Supply Chain Leadership Academy. The Rutgers Center is affiliated with over 20 major, global corporations and has ties to other leading universities (not only in the U.S. but throughout the world) that specialize in procurement and supply chain management.

Exam

To obtain the ACP, students must pass a 2-hour, comprehensive, closed-book, multiple choice exam with a grade of 70 or greater. The exam will cover important topics such as procurement strategy, organization, processes, information technology, contract law, cost management and supplier relationship management. The best way to study for this exam is by reviewing your text and notes from the Procurement and Global Sourcing class.

Eligibility

RBS SCMMS undergraduate students who have successfully completed the Procurement and Global Sourcing course (33-799-300) are eligible to take the exam.
