

Young Alumni Rising Star Award

Amir Ismail

Amir graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Accounting & Supply Chain Management from Rutgers Business School in Newark in 2015. Amir Ismail is the VP of Product Strategy & Agile Transformation within Asset & Wealth Management at JP Morgan Chase and the CEO/Founder of AIC Mindset. Amir started AIC Mindset because of his desire to engage and assist people create compelling narratives that give them direction and pride in their story. AIC Mindset has helped thousands of young and experienced professionals across dozens of industries to create and refine career paths, transition jobs, re-enter the workforce, pursue higher education, start businesses and so much more. Amir is a first-generation college student, first-generation American and comes from a very humble background. Outside of his professional and entrepreneurial pursuits, he is extremely involved in pro-bono efforts, leadership boards, and volunteerism efforts including being the President of ALPFA Charlotte, having served on the Young Leadership board of America Needs You, and admitted to the World Economic Forum Global Shapers program. Recent Awards include: The 'Outstanding Service to ALPFA' national award, The President's Volunteer Service Award, Top 30 under 30 Charlotte professionals award and the Cystic Fibrosis Standout Award. He thoroughly enjoys giving back to his community and works hard to give back to his mother, father and 2 sisters that serve as his support system. He speaks 3 languages (Arabic & Spanish) and has traveled to 25 countries world-wide and to 27 states in the United States.