Future Leaders MBA

The Future Leaders MBA program offers current senior students an opportunity to enroll in the Part-Time MBA program immediately after graduation. This program is open to current seniors who have secured a job offer for post-graduation employment and maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0. Furthermore, recent graduates who fulfill the same criteria are welcome to apply to the program. Admitted students can earn an MBA early in their career while continuing to work full-time. The benefits of Future Leaders MBA are that students complete the entire application process while still in their final year at their current college and start their MBA studies immediately after graduation from college, giving them a head start on their graduate education.

Admissions

We seek a diverse student body to bring to the classroom varying experiences and backgrounds. Rutgers Business School admits those students who, in the opinion of the Graduate Admissions Committee, show promise of succeeding in the program. Primary consideration is given to the applicant's scholastic record, including the distribution and quality of work. Other considerations include professional work experience, professional appraisals, civic leadership and extracurricular participation, responses on the application form, and the essay.
