

Honorary Business Excellence Award

Harvey M. Schwartz is the Chief Executive Officer of global investment firm Carlyle and a member of the Board of Directors.

Harvey Schwartz

He serves as the Group Chairperson and Non-Executive Director of The Bank of London, a clearing and payments bank with operations in London and New York City. Schwartz also serves on the board of SoFi Technologies, Inc., a San Francisco-based fintech company, and One Mind, a nonprofit that accelerates collaborative research and advocacy to enable all individuals facing brain health challenges to build healthy, productive lives. He is involved in a range of investment and philanthropic endeavors that include a focus on mental health and developing future business leaders, including women and young people seeking a career in finance.

Schwartz was formerly the president and Co-Chief Operating Officer of The Goldman Sachs Group, Inc. He joined Goldman Sachs in 1997 and subsequently held numerous senior leadership positions including Chief Financial Officer, Global Co-Head of the Securities Division, Head of Securities Division Sales, Head of North American Sales and Co-Head of the Americas Financing Group.

Prior to Goldman Sachs, Schwartz spent a decade working at several financial firms, including Citicorp from 1990 through 1997.

Schwartz earned his BA from Rutgers University, where he is a member of the university's Board of Governors and its Hall of Distinguished Alumni. He received his MBA from Columbia University.