

Distinguished Alumni Award

Jeff Mraz

Jeff Mraz is an Audit and Assurance Partner at Deloitte. He is based in New Jersey and has 29 years of experience serving clients across a variety of industries, with a focus on life sciences and consumer and industrial products companies. He is a national audit leader within Deloitte's life sciences practice.

In his client service roles, Jeff has led numerous global engagement teams sending him all over the world to provide impactful client experiences, including Australia, Denmark, Germany, Italy, the U.K., and many more. He has extensive experience serving clients across a wide range of complex accounting and reporting issues. He has also assisted a number of clients in acquisition, divestiture, IPO, and financing transactions.

Jeff is strongly committed to the development of Deloitte professionals. He serves as a coach, mentor, and facilitator for local and national training programs. He leads campus recruiting for the New Jersey audit practice, and experienced hire recruiting for the Greater Tri-State audit practice. He is also the lead relationship partner for Rutgers University.

He graduated from Rutgers College and the Rutgers Business School in May 1995. He currently serves on the Rutgers Business School Dean's Board of Advisers and on the Board of Trustees of the River Crossing YMCA. Jeff delivered the commencement address at the May 2023 Rutgers Business School-New Brunswick graduation ceremony. He is a long-time season ticket holder for Rutgers football and men's basketball.

Jeff lives in Hunterdon County with his wife Stephanie (Rutgers College and Rutgers Business School class of 1992), their two children (Zach and Emily), and their dog (Cocoa).
